CUBAN TRADE TREATY

President Considering the Practicability of Calling an Extra Session.

DEPENDS UPON THE SENATE'S ACTION.

Document May Be So Amended as to Render Action by the House Necessary—Proceedings of the Senate.

Washington, March 13. — It can be stated by authority that President Roosevelt has not definitely made up his mind to call an extraordinary session of the fifty-eighth congress. He, however, is considering the practicability of doing so. When he was informed that it was the intention of the senate to so amend the Cuban reciprocity treaty as to render action upon it by the house of representatives necessary to make it effective, he informed some members of the senate that he would hold himself free to call an extraordinary session of the congress in order to secure action upon it. No definite time was mentioned by the president for the meeting of the extraordinary session.

The president is much in earnest in his desire to have the Cuban treaty ratified and made effective. It can be said that so strong is this desire he has even considered the advisability of calling the congress into extraordinary session this spring. The senate should permit the Cuban treaty to fall through lack of a quorum. That, however, is a contingency which he considers improbable. The belief of the president and of his advisors is that the senate will take definite action upon both the Panama canal and Cuban reciprocity treaties at the present extraordinary session. Assurances to that effect have been received from the leaders of the senate. The president believes, it also can be said, that this work of the senate will have been accomplished by the last of next week.

When the senate went into executive session Senator Morgan entered upon a discussion of Attorney General Knox's opinion as to the validity of the title to the Panama canal property which can be given by the new Panama canal company. This opinion he attacked as defective in some points, and especially in its failure to deal with the jurisdiction of the French courts which have passed upon the canal company's title.

A Dead Princess.

Berlin, March 13. — Princess Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar died suddenly near Hanover. She was seized with convulsions while driving with her husband and expired two hours later in a wayside cottage. The princess was of obscure origin and was born at Lubeck. It was for her that Bernhard, second son of the late Prince Hermann of Saxe-Weimar, renounced his name and royal rank about two years ago and received for himself and his male descendants the name and rank of Count Von Crayenberg. The deceased princess was, before she married Prince Bernhard, the widow of the Marquis Luchessini, an Italian.

Missing Explorer Turns Up.

St. Petersburg, March 13.—Professor Bauria, the zoologist of the Baron Toll expedition, who left the expedition's yacht Snria in May with three others to engage in scientific research in New Siberia, has arrived at Irkutsk, a city of Eastern Siberia. The expedition headed by Baron Toll is exploring the Siberian coast line. It was reported on November 21 to have been cut off from the coast by early winter ice in New Siberia, and on February 21 the Imperial academy of sciences at St. Petersburg decided to dispatch an expedition to search for Baron Toll and his companions.

To Restrain Strikers.

Kansas City, March 13. — At least eight additional companies will ask the federal court here for an order restraining their striking employees from interfering in the transaction of their business. The petitions, which have already been drawn up, make the contention that interference with wagons on the way to the depots and shipping yards is in violation of the interstate commerce laws. The plaintiffs will argue that goods are in transit in the meaning of the law from the moment they are loaded into a wagon, when a receipt is given by the transfer company.

Saw the Pope.

Rome, March 13. — The pope received in private audience Bishop Edward Dunne of Dallas, Texas, who presented the pontiff with a jubilee offering. The bishop was impressed with the pope's vitality, especially when, in expressing his affection for the people of the United States, he asked the bishop to convey his blessing to all the faithful in his diocese, saying, "Come again."

KENTUCKY AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Design and Description of the Handsome New Building to be Erected by the State Exhibit Association—All Who Contribute as Much as $1 Can Say With Pardonable Pride "It's Part Mine."

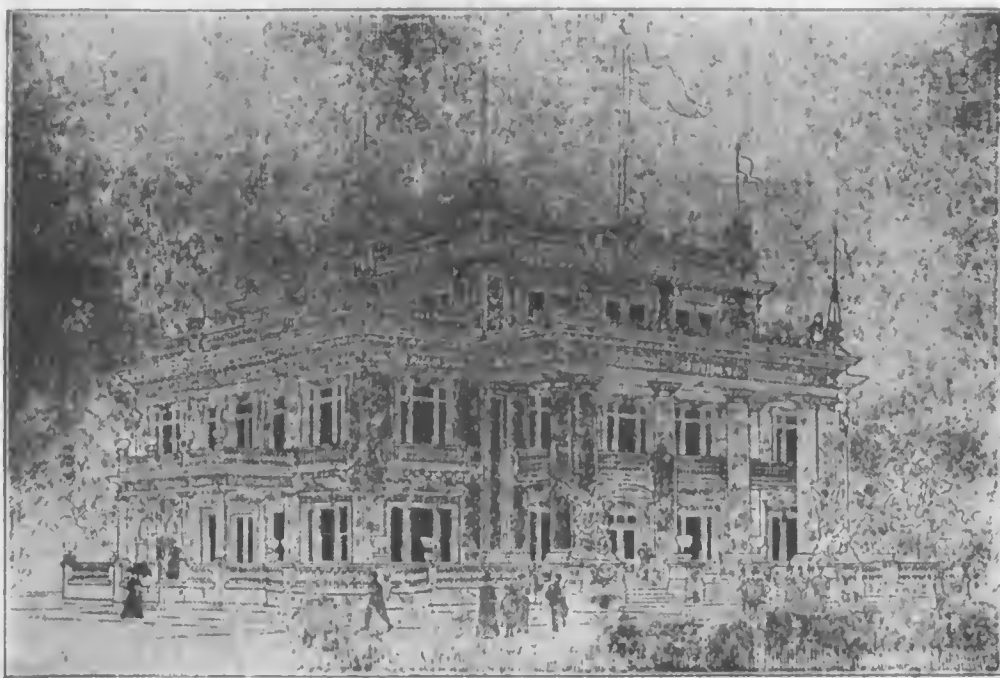

The "New Kentucky Home," to be erected in Forest Park, St. Louis, for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition next year, has already reached the stage of an outline on paper, and to-day, in architect's design, it is submitted to the Kentucky public by the Kentucky Exhibit Association with the hope that it will receive their applause. The next step will be a completion of the working drawings and then actual construction will begin. While neither the money necessary to erect the Kentucky Building on the World's Fair grounds, nor the money necessary to collect and install the big exhibits of Kentucky's products and resources contemplated, has been raised, the movement has passed the wobbly stage and success is assured. It is the firm belief of the General Finance Committee that sixty days more will bring to the association fund practically all of the $100,000. Four months have been spent

It is symmetrical and well balanced. Porches and verandas surround the structure. Every side of the building is a front, and each of course has an entrance. The broad sides of the building are emphasized by massive porches flanked with sculpture groups, symbolical of mines, forestry, manufactures, and agriculture and horticulture. Unlike many exposition buildings, the "Kentucky Home" has as inviting an interior as it has an attractive exterior. The first floor forms a reception hall, fifty-six by sixty feet, with a hardwood floor. Along the walls of this hall the exhibits will be placed. In the center will be a map of Kentucky made of marble mosaics. It will be twenty-five feet square and will show clearly every county of the State, the mosaics to be colored to indicate the special resources of each county—black for coal, yellow for clay, white for stone, green for fruit, red for wheat, lemon for room thereon to be used for serving light refreshments which will communicate with the second and third floors by dumb waiters. The roofs of the porches surrounding this third floor will be used as a roof garden as will be the roof over the third floor, the roof of the building proper.

The site of the Kentucky building is one of the best on the exposition grounds. It is within 100 yards of a main entrance to the fair, where the terminals of the city railway lines are located. It is the purpose of the Building Committee to have blue grass growing around the "home." Sod will be taken over from Kentucky at the proper time and placed around the lawn. The walks leading to the four entrances of the building will be made of Kentucky asphalt.

Until actual construction begins a large sign will occupy the site, so the thousands of visitors to the grounds daily now in laying plans to this end. An organization throughout the State has been perfected that can but result in the raising of the entire fund.

The State Building speaks for itself. This design was selected by the Building Committee after two weeks had been spent in canvassing the twelve different drawings submitted in the competition. Since the award was made to the successful firm—Messrs. Kenneth McDonald and J. F. Shebley—the committee has ordered numerous changes in not only the perspective, but the floor plans. The cut shown herewith is a perfect representation of the building as it will stand on the grounds at St. Louis next year.

The building will cover an area of 138 feet by 108 feet, including porches and verandas. The building proper is ninety-seven by sixty-two feet. For neighbors it will have California on one side and Minnesota on the other, facing Iowa and New Mexico. The exterior shows a classic style of architecture, richly decorated.

corn, red for whisky, brown for timber, gray for asphalt, etc., etc. This big rug will have a border of mosaics working out some pretty design.

A small room in each corner of the hall will add to the effect of the first floor. One of these will be used as a gentlemen's reception, another as a gentlemen's retiring room, the third as a check room and information bureau and the fourth for the custodian. A double stairway leads to the second floor, which is similar in plan to the first, with the exception that a light well opens immediately over the map of the State on the first floor, giving those on the second floor the opportunity to look down from an attractive balustrade encircling the light well. The second floor will be used almost exclusively by ladies, with the exception of rooms arranged at one end so they may be thrown into one large banquet hall for serving a dinner or breakfast on any special occasion. There will also be a third floor, with one to note the progress of the work may know that Kentucky is to be there with both feet. This sign will read: "Here Will Stand the New Kentucky Home During the World's Fair."

In this connection it should be said that it is the purpose of the Kentucky Exhibit Association to erect the building if possible out of popular subscriptions and to devote the remainder of the $100,000—about $70,000—to collecting, installing and maintaining the exhibits to be made of Kentucky products and resources in the main exhibit palaces of the exposition, for it must be remembered that the association has planned a much greater advertisement of Kentucky than would come through a State building. It is hoped to secure from the business element of Kentucky enough contributions for these exhibits, because all commercial and industrial life in the State is directly interested in this feature of the work, that which is certain to develop Kentucky.

KILLED SIX PASSENGERS.

Mexican Bandits Hold Up a Stage. One Victim Wealthy.

Tucson, Ariz., March 13.—Mexican bandits held up the stage which runs between Potom and Torin, on the Yaqui river in Sonora, killing all of the six passengers. Among them was Filiberto Alvarado, a wealthy Mexican who owned a number of ranches along the Yaqui river. The authorities at Guayamas were at once notified. Alvarado and his wife had taken the stage from Potom to Torin, and the robbers no doubt thought they carried a large sum of money with them. The stage carried very little mail and scarcely any money or valuables, so that Alvarado must have been the mark of the bandits. The hold-up took place about half way between the two towns, but just how the stage was attacked will never be known, as all of the passengers and the driver were killed. Circumstances give evidence that they put up a fight. Their bodies were rife of everything of value upon them. The traces had been cut and the horses had been allowed to run wild. The cover and body of the stage were shot full of holes.

Nature's Profile of Washington. Hartford, Conn., March 13.—It was recently decided that what was left of the "Washington Elm," so known because of the story that Washington stopped under it when he visited Captain Jeremiah Wadsworth on the occasion of the conference with Rochambeau, must come down, and many persons went to get pieces of the elm. Superintendent of Street Hausting picked up a limb some four inches through, and there, at the cross-section, was a perfect profile of Washington. It was made by the brown heart of the limb. Officers of the Connecticut Historical society pronounce it a marvel. Mr. Hausting will have it mounted and handed down to succeeding generations.

In Favor of Football.

Cambridge, Mass., March 13. — An interesting canvass has been made among Harvard men on the question brought up recently by Professor Hollis, chairman of the Crimson athletic committee, regarding football between Yale and Harvard. Forty-four students voted in favor of abolishing the annual game between the universities, while 344 opposed such a step. Large majorities endorsed the opinion that a more open style of play would improve the game, and that the objectionable features of football could be eliminated without injuring the game as a sport.

Hawaiian Money Recoined.

San Francisco, March 13. — Sixty-five thousand dollars of Hawaiian money has been transferred from the United States sub-treasury to the local mint. This is the first consignment of Hawaiian coins to be melted and turned into United States money. The work of recoinage will begin at once, and as soon as the metal bears the stamp of the American eagle another lot of the island money will be sent to the mint by the local government treasurer. There is still $200,000 of this money in the sub-treasury, and from now on until the $1,000,000 point is reached every steamer from Honolulu is expected to bring more of it for recoinage.

Alleged Breach of Promise.

Portsmouth, O., March 13.—A breach of promise suit has been filed in common pleas court. The plaintiff is Miss Sylvia M. Gardner of Rardon, O., a prominent young lady, and the defendant is Frank M. Waller, also from Rardon, O. The amount asked for in damages is $15,000. Waller recently erected a mansion, which, it was claimed, was for Miss Gardner, but a few weeks ago he was married to Mrs. Ella Kim of Lancaster, O. Owing to the prominence of the parties the suit has caused a sensation.

WIDOW MAY CONTEST.

Edwin Burdick Cuts Off His Wife Without a Solitary Cent.

WILL'S CONTENTS JUST MADE PUBLIC.

Attorney For Mrs. Burdick Declines to Discuss the Matter at This Time—Arrangements Made For the Inquest.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 13.—The will of the late Edwin L. Burdick, murdered in his home here Friday, Feb. 27, has been made public. Burdick cuts off his wife whom he was suing for divorce, without a cent. He leaves $2,500 to relatives and the rest of his property to his three children, share and share alike. The will was made December 8, 1902. Mr. Burdick names as executors of his estate Augustus G. Kellogg, George H. Dunston and Geo. C. Miller. He names Charles Park and Rasley Tucker, his business associates, as guardians of his three children. Frederick Hartzell, attorney for Mrs. Burdick, was asked if there would be any objections to the will so far as he and his client were concerned. "I can't tell yet," he said. "There may be."

Objections were filed in behalf of Mrs. Burdick and by F. B. Hartzell in behalf of the infants, as their special guardian. Counsel for the executors said he thought some one should be appointed the special guardian other than Mr. Hartzell. The court, however, declined to revoke the appointment.

The will was then admitted to probate, under the stipulation that the objection of Mrs. Burdick to the clause providing for the appointment of testamentary guardians for the children be determined by the surrogate at a future date. Mrs. Burdick expressed satisfaction with the other sections of the will.

Arrangements have been completed by the authorities for holding the inquest in the Burdick murder case. They hope to learn something at the inquest that will throw light upon the murder mystery. The police officials exercised great secrecy in arranging for the inquiry.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

When Informed the Government Intended to Prosecute For Neglect.

Manilla, March 13. — Bartlett Sinclair, treasurer of Rizal province, attempted to commit suicide by taking poison in the office of the attorney general, who informed him that the government intended to prosecute him for neglecting his office and permitting the peculation of funds.

Sinclair's books were found to be in a muddled state. The authorities had been investigating for months a shortage of several thousands, but it is not believed that Sinclair embezzled any money. Four of his subordinates have been arrested on the charge of embezzlement.

Knapp on the Stand.

Hamilton, O., March 13.—Allen Andrews, counsel for Joe Roth, on trial for criminal assault of children, reconsidered his plan not to call Strangler Knapp as a witness. Knapp was on the stand 15 minutes, but his testimony developed absolutely nothing. He was brought in by Deputy Sheriff Bisdorf, and looked better and was more carefully dressed than at any time since his arrest. Judge Ballen told Knapp that he was forced to answer no questions in any way incriminating himself. Knapp, in his examination, spoke naturally and frankly. He simply reiterated his former statement that he did not know the Motzer children or family, and that the first he heard of the assault was when he read it in the papers next day.

Struck for an Increase.

New York, March 13.—A strike of the firemen and officers employed in the marine department of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company has been inaugurated. Their action results in the tying up of the entire freight and passenger service between One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, Port Morris and Oak Point and Jersey City. The men, it is said, have made frequent demands for an increase in wages, and assert that they were asked by the officials of the company to wait until Monday, when they would be granted an audience. The men refused to do so.

Mrs. Brady Insane.

Toledo, O., March 13.—Mrs. K. Brady, principal witness in the Anna Snyder murder case, was found to be violently insane as the result of brooding over her knowledge of the murder. A police official admits that this new turn of affairs will prevent the possibility that existed of solving the murder mystery. Mrs. Brady was the only one who saw the murderer leave the dead girl's presence.

Break in the Mississippi River Levee Imminent Near Baton Rouge. Apprehension Exists at Many Points.

Portsmouth, O., March 13. — The flood in the Scioto river washed away the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hall, and only Mrs. Hall survives the catastrophe out of the family of six. Mr. Hall drowned while trying to rescue several of his little children. Mrs. Hall says her home was carried away by the rapidly rising river, including all the household effects.

The body of one of the children has been recovered and search is being prosecuted for the others. All the children drowned were girls. They were Mary, aged 9 years; Katie, aged 6 years; Edna, aged 4, and Louise, aged 2.

Still Raining.

New Orleans, March 13.—There was a decrease in the rise of the river here in the past 24 hours, the official gauge reading 18.8, a rise of one-tenth. The river is now seven-tenths of a foot below the record of 1897. The seriousness of the situation is increased, however, by the continuance of rainy weather, which is softening the levees along the Louisiana line. Large forces continue to sack the city front, and the engineers are still hopeful that the local line of embankments will stand the strain imposed on them. Flying gangs were dispatched to different points on reports which reached the engineers of weakening spots, but they were in every instance found to be exaggerated. Both banks of the river above the city are being guarded to prevent the cutting of levees.

Conditions at Memphis.

Memphis, March 13.—The river rose five-tenths of a foot here during the past 24 hours, the gauge marking 36.1

feet. All indications still point to a stage of 38 feet by Sunday or Monday. The work on the new levee is progressing night and day. The immediate country around the town is covered with from three to five feet of water. All outward-bound boats are loaded with men and supplies for the flooded districts. Advances from Mississippi state that many people in Coahoma county are alarmed over the situation. The engineers say, however, that the levees were never so strong and claim there is no danger of a break.

Worst Over.

Evansville, Ind., March 13. — The river marked 42 feet here. This shows that the water is falling, and as the weather has cleared, another serious rise is not expected. Farmers who were driven from the lowlands are preparing to return to their homes, and the worst is believed to be over. The damage to winter wheat is heavy. The lowlands along Pigeon and Potoka creeks are some under water. Dispatches from points along the White and Wabash rivers show an improved condition.

Levee Giving Way.

Donaldsonville, La., March 13.—Intense excitement prevails here because telephone advices tell of an impending break in the Arlington levee near Baton Rouge. Hands are being corralled on all the plantations across the river, and hundreds of them are being sent on a special train to the scene of trouble. Should the levee give way all the new river section of this parish will be flooded. The region is populated principally by poor, small farmers.

Streams Running Wild.

Brush, Colo., March 13.—The warm weather of the past few days has melted the snowdrifts from the plains, and gullies of the south divide and all streams are running bank full. The Burlington railroad is washed out west of here, and trains are running over the Union Pacific tracks to this place. The bridges south of here along Beaver creek are all washed away and travel is suspended.

Legal Execution.

Lincoln, Neb., March 13.—Gottlieb Negenfand was hanged here for murder. On September 11 last he shot and killed Mrs. Peters and her father, Albert Breyer.
